Van Deyk

PRESS TEXT

Singer-Songwriter · Folk-Pop · Hamburg / Frankfurt

SHORT VERSION

Some musicians play concerts, others create evenings. Van Deyk belongs to the latter.

With a warm, raw voice, guitar and piano, the singer-songwriter tells stories of longing, new beginnings and the moments that change everything in his English-language folk-pop songs. His roots lie with artists such as The Lumineers, The Tallest Man On Earth and Mumford & Sons. Whether clubs, theatres, festivals or Germany's ZDF Morgenmagazin, Van Deyk feels at home on the most diverse stages. He is currently working on new recordings, with his next album set for release in autumn 2027.

LONG VERSION

When Van Deyk steps on stage, something in the room shifts. Conversations fade, all eyes turn to the front, and for the next few hours, only the music matters. Based between Hamburg and Frankfurt, the singer-songwriter has dedicated his life to live performance since 2014, and you can feel it in every note.

His songs are honest, emotional and fearless. Van Deyk dives headfirst into the mood of each song, at times quiet and vulnerable, at times with an energy that sweeps the audience along. After an EP, an album and a musical journey through indie pop, he is returning to his roots: energetic singer-songwriter folk. Influences from The Lumineers, The Tallest Man On Earth and Mumford & Sons blend into a sound that is unmistakably his own.

His performances have taken him to some of Germany's finest stages: Laeiszhalle, Knust, Grünspan, Schauspielhaus, Thalia Theater and Nochtspeicher in Hamburg, Kieler Woche, Schlachthof Bremen and Theater im Pädagog in Darmstadt. He has also appeared on television on ZDF Morgenmagazin and Sat.1 Regional. Solo, as a duo or with a full band, every evening with Van Deyk is one of a kind.

Van Deyk is currently in the middle of recording new songs, created with musicians and producers from Hamburg. His new album will be released in autumn 2027.
